

FIND TAHLEQUAH BANKER GUILTY

W. S. Barnes' Fate Is Now in Hands of Judge R. L. Williams.

EMBEZZLED $58,000

Convicted on Six Counts in Trial at McAlester—Denied Knowledge of Use.

By Associated Press Staff Wire.

McALESTER, Okla., June 16.—What the future holds for W. S. Barnes, banker of Tahlequah, whose alleged embezzlement cost the Central National bank of that place over $58,000, is entirely in the hands of Federal Judge Williams. Barnes was found guilty by a federal jury Tuesday in the McAlester term of court, and now must rely on the mercy of the court for the duration of his sentence.

Barnes was convicted on six counts, three of fraudulent entry and three of fraud with intent to deceive the national bank examiner. Barnes' defense, offered through his attorney, W. P. McInnis, was that he had no knowledge of how the money was misplaced. United States Attorneys Bond and Summers conducted the prosecution. Under the conviction, Barnes can be sent to prison for ten years.

HAIR TONIC HAD KICK

Farmer Boy Mistook Gore's Toilet Staff for Sniffer of Mule.

Special to The World.

STIGLER, Okla., June 16.—Oklahoma's famous blind senator, Thomas Pryor Gore, who is now campaigning for a re-nomination to the United States senate, recently lost a suitcase from the auto in which he was speeding over the roads between Kinta and this point. That night a rawboned farmer boy walked unsteadily into the hotel where the senator was stopping and turned over the suitcase which he had picked up on the road.

The blind senator felt through the bag to see if everything was intact, and suddenly straightening up asked: "What happened to my bottle of hair tonic? Did it leak out?" "Goshamity," exclaimed the country boy as he wiped his horny hand across his lips. "Was that stuff hair tonic? I reckoned as how it was mule—she had such a kick. You'll better send a jolt of it to that Scott Ferris who is runnin' again ye."

The senator slipped a ten-spot and the farmer boy slipped around the corner, evidently looking for a barber shop.

MIKE SAID TO MARK

I sure thought that I was going to get a drink of Rock and Rye yesterday, but the joke was that the bottle contained only a few rocks and a head of rye. That reminds me that we have just unloaded a full car of West Coast Cedar posts. I am going to call up some of my friends who have rye fields, they will need both fencing and posts.
